Following is a response from Senior DHS Stata Specialist, Tom Pullum:

Yes, we would consider that to be a match. The code should be basically the same for all surveys. The only thing that you need to check is the numbers and letters for the variables on liquids, etc. Please proceed and see whether you get a match for 2003 and 2008.

We don't have SPSS code for the other years. If necessary, I can send you the CPro code which was used for those surveys. You would have to translate it to SPSS. You should be able to do that.
