Subject: Colombia DHS StatCompiler v/s Report

Hello

I am extracting data on physical partner violence, sexual partner violence, and physical and/or sexual partner violence for Colombia 2000, 2005 and 2010.

I have been extracting these from StatCompiler but have been double-checking with the report and am confused by the following:

For 2000 and 2005
1) The point estimates presented for lifetime physical and/or sexual partner violence in the report are coded as past 12 months physical and/or sexual partner violence in StatCompiler

2) The point estimates coded as past year physical and/or sexual partner violence in StatCompiler are larger than the lifetime estimates which is implausible? There are no past year domestic violence estimates in the report.

Colombia 2010
The estimates for lifetime and past year physical and/or sexual partner violence are very similar in StatCompiler and unsure if this is the case?

Would be very grateful for advice on this please.

Also more generally, if there are discrepancies between the report and statcompiler which one would you advice we go with?

Many thanks
LynnMarie
