Thank you! Now I am moving on to look at the number of interviewed women who have given birth in her life. I see that I can make use of bidx to do it but it is in the IR file. Is there a variable or any way I can compute that from the br file? Also, if I am using the br file for my regression, I may get repeated information regarding mother's educational level because she might give birth to more than 1 child. Is that a problem and how can I solve that?
