Following is another response from DHS Research & Data Analysis Director, Tom Pullum:

Glad to help. Regarding possible fixes--you can make those changes, to engineer better consistency among the responses, but we can't be certain that they are corrections....

Now that we have timestamps, it's possible to track interviewers in great detail as they move through a cluster and from one cluster to the next. Fascinating--for some of us, at least!

Yes, our goal is to have programs on GitHub in Stata, SPSS, and R for all the chapters, including extra chapters for modules that are only occasionally used. Certainly, any suggestions or pull requests will be welcome!
