How can a common person construct this table using information from DHS Guide to Statistics-7, without knowing this information about the coding for missing months? Where is this information in DHS Guide to Statistics-7?

The national and state level factsheets of India (NFHS-5) and Indian states contain 131 estimates. If this is the case with age at marriage, I suspect the case with all other estimates may be the same. Why should a person dedicate hours replicating these tables, when such crucial information is withheld?

So, could the DHS publish an accompanying do file/codes to replicate all these figures?
