Hi,

I wanted to look at some outcomes for men as found in the couples recode. I have restricted my sample to the couples where the wife responded to the domestic violence module. I understand that the women's weights are adjusted for the 1 woman per household and privacy restrictions and the new weight for them is d005. However, does this also imply that one should use d005 when looking at the outcomes for their husbands too? or should we stick to using mv005, the individual men's weights?

Any clarity on the same would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you!
