Following is a response from Senior DHS staff member, Tom Pullum:

You need to distinguish between the Republic of the Congo, or Congo, whose capital is Brazzaville, and the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), whose capital is Kinshasa. DHS has done surveys in both countries.

If you are having trouble with the French labels, please look at Appendix A in an English language report on another DHS survey. The table formats are standardized across reports. You should be able to translate the labels this way.
