Can you please show the same household structure for PR and HR file separately with different command as you are saying that in PR with egen command and in HR with loop. Like if we want to create a household "head without spouse but with unmarried children and with other relations of whom only one is having spouse" how will we do for both the files?

What are the pros and cons of this two types of files for making household structure variable and PR file is prefer over HR file for making household structure variable for what?
