After analyzing the data available in the BR file, I was able to identify the association I was investigating, specifically the relationship between maternal anemia and the likelihood of a child also developing anemia. Based on these findings, I would like to confirm if I can proceed with just this file (BR), considering that the relevant data is contained within it and that I have already been able to answer my research question using only the data from the BR file. My main objective is to understand the association between maternal anemia and the likelihood of anemia in children.
