Following is a response from DHS staff member, Tom Pullum:

In 2003, Nippe was constructed by the government of Haiti as a break out from Grand'Anse, so Nippe is not included in surveys before 2005-06. The 2012 survey includes a variable "shcamp" or "scamp" because people were still displaced at that time from the January 2010 earthquake. Otherwise, the departments are consistently identified by hv024 or v024 in all of these surveys.
