
Subject: Re: Sample size and systematic sampling
Posted by Reduced-For\(u\)m on Sun, 14 Dec 2014 22:50:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Right. I just saw that on the forum. But Deft is about multiplying your confidence interval size, not your sample size, as best as I know. I think you would need to transform this by backing out the new sample size from the power calculation.

I still don't see any reason to throw away observations though, so I think it doesn't matter. Just use all the observations.
