thank you for the response, i have tried to do it the way you suggested but there seems to be a problem. i can not understand the result which that command gave me. i want the mother's age at birth to be generated in 5-year age groups but i got something different. i hope you can understand what i mean. perhaps there is something in addition to what you suggested, that i need to do. pls kindly share. thank you. i shall attach a crop of what the command gave me to this message
