Subject: Re: Couple File Posted by bsayer on Fri, 12 Jul 2013 21:31:37 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

A strictly correct statistical answer is the household weight, as it does not have the non-response adjustments that the male and female weights have. These adjustments may account for differing non-response of each partner and may be sub-optimal.

However, the male weight is usually fine.

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from The DHS Program User Forum