

---

Subject: Re: Education in couple's data

Posted by Trevor-DHS on Thu, 06 Aug 2015 20:48:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You can compare variables v133 (for the woman) and mv133 (for the man). These variables are constructed variables that calculate the number of years of education from the level and grade reported for each respondent.

You can crosstabulate these variables, or you can create a variable that is the difference between the two. If you do the latter, take care to handle the 99 codes (missing data) in each variable.

---