It's the Household recode. V022 is not there. I have been advised elsewhere that there has been confusion about HV022 as it is not the Strata variable but the sample strata used for sampling errors. I'm not sure now which variable I should have been using as Strata and maybe this is the wrong one, but I've used HV022 in my analyses for other data sets and it seemed to work. Any advice greatly appreciated.

Thanks for your help.
