

---

Subject: Re: Weighting Data Question

Posted by Bridgette-DHS on Tue, 12 Jan 2016 18:35:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Following is a response from Senior DHS Stata Specialist, Tom Pullum:

For the cox regression you describe, I would agree that children born would be more appropriate than children surviving. That would correspond with the initial size of the birth cohort (real or synthetic). And yes, I should have recommended the grouping of v024 (NOT v023!) and v025. Sorry about that!

---