
Subject: Re: Sampling structure
Posted by Liz-DHS on Thu, 31 Oct 2013 21:03:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear User,
The answer is "no". Even the clusters are different. If a household is revisited, it is not intentional. You can find information on the sampling in one of the appendices in the back of each final report. Each publication is bookmarked for your convenience. Here is a link to our publications <http://www.measuredhs.com/publications/publication-search.cfm>
