

---

Subject: Re: Literacy Evaluation
Posted by Liz-DHS on Thu, 05 Dec 2013 14:48:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Dear Emily,

I am not exactly sure what was used in Ghana but I did look at our standard core questionnaire for the woman and found the following:

Each card should have four simple sentences appropriate to the country (e.g., "Parents love their children.",

"Farming is hard work.", "The child is reading a book.", "Children work hard at school."). Cards should be prepared for every language in which respondents are likely to be literate.

Our current core questionnaires can be found on our website

<http://www.measuredhs.com/publications/publication-DHSQ6-DHS-Questionnaires-and-Manuals.cfm>

The following web page has links to all previous phases as well.

http://www.measuredhs.com/What-We-Do/Survey-Types/DHS-Questionnaires.cfm#CP\_JUMP\_16175

Hope this helps!

---