Following is a response from Senior DHS Stata Specialist, Tom Pullum:

DHS surveys that are restricted to ever-married women include awfactt, awfactu, awfactr, awfacte, and awfactw. (They may also include other versions of awfact among the country-specific variables.) The final letter tells you what covariate the factor is designed for: t for total, u for urban/rural, r for region, e for education, and w for wealth. What you need, awfactw, should already be in the data file.