Dear User, a response from Dr. Shea Rutstein:

The India 2015-16 survey did have separate wealth indexes created for each state as a whole and for urban and rural areas within each state. There should also be one for India as a whole.

Thank you for your reply to my query on the wealth index within state. But, can you please let me know what the numerator and the denominators were to calculate this value? I need to understand how it was calculated. was the denominator the number of households in that particular state?
