Hii friends

I want to use NFHS 4(India) for factors determining women's paid work decision.However, the question pertaining to women and work are in section 9 which is only in state sample. So i want to ask can i use this data set for the above stated objective. Thanks in advance.

The households selected for the state module are a random subsample of the total households selected in NFHS-4. Therefore, they are representative of the country as a whole and the states, so they can be used for the analysis. However, the denominators may be relatively small for some indicators.
