In the final report: "A subsample of 15 percent of households was selected for the implementation of the state module, in addition to the district module. In the 15 percent of households selected for the state module, a long questionnaire was administered that included all the questions needed for district-level estimates plus additional questions for the topics listed above."

Does anyone know the variable name in SPSS that corresponds to if a household was selected for the state module?

In the Individual Recode (IR) files the variable name for 'State Module' is SSMOD wherein they are coded as Yes=1, and No=0.
